

Alaska Smart Communities Forum

Funding Provided By

Friday November 8, 2019, 8am-Noon

Atwood Conference Center, 550 W 7th Ave, Anchorage, AK 99501

Register via Email Invitation

Contact doug.miller@wostmann.com for more information

8:00am	Continental Breakfast
8:30am	Enterprise GIS for All – Anne Johnson, BP <ul style="list-style-type: none">Using portal technology for anyone to easily access the right data at the right place at the right time.
9:00am	Integrating Images with GIS Systems – Muthu Sampath, Mapillary; Ryan Quigley, Alaska DOT&PF; Aaron Butterer, Alaska Railroad <ul style="list-style-type: none">Adding street-level images to your GIS workflows using Mapillary.
9:30am	Local Government Data Sharing – Mike Knapp, Anchorage; Eric Wyatt, Mat-Su <ul style="list-style-type: none">Data now available from Anchorage and Mat-Su, who uses it and how.How Anchorage and Mat-Su both access data from other agencies.
10:15am	Break
10:30am	Digital City Data Management and Analytics – Rob Silverberg, DELL <ul style="list-style-type: none">IoT, real-time data analytics, and artificial intelligence Building Smarter Communities – Rob Lloyd, CIO, San Jose, CA <ul style="list-style-type: none">The city's smart city journey to date and into the futureFrom data to intelligence and the implications of 5G
11:45am	Updates – Doug Miller <ul style="list-style-type: none">Local project updates and discussionUpcoming conferences
12:00pm	Adjourn

The Alaska Smart Communities Forum was started in 2016 by the Mat-Su Borough to bring together government agencies, businesses and non-profits to learn about and discuss data sources, tools, and services to better serve residents and customers with information they can use.